PREFATORY NOTE.

THE compiler of the present monograph desires to express his obligations for much help rendered him at home and abroad. He is indebted in the first place to the Paris librarians, notably those of the Bibliothèque Nationale, where Monsieur Léopold Delisle most kindly communicated his notes on the incunabula at Chantilly, and the Arsenal, where Monsieur G. Duval, a friendly rival in the same field of research, furnished notes and made extracts and photographs with reckless generosity. The writer has received constant aid from Mademoiselle Pellechet, Monsieur Claudin, and Monsieur Jean Masson of Amiens, and from Dr. Göldlin von Tiefenau of the Imperial Library of Vienna. His thanks are further due to Mr. Jenkinson, the Librarian of Cambridge University, to Mr. R. Proctor, whose work on the British Museum incunabula has been largely utilized, and to the long-suffering Secretary of this Society.

INTRODUCTION.

BIOGRAPHICAL DETAILS.

THE parentage of Vêrard and his career before the appearance of his first book in 1485 is entirely unknown. An attempt has been made to connect him with one Jean-Pierre de Vêrade, to whom a "permission de tester" was granted by Charles VIII. in 1497,¹ but there are insuperable difficulties of date.² There are indications connecting Vêrard with Touraine, for he published two books having relation to the province, a Coutûmier, and the Château de Virginité of Georges de Esclavonie, a native of Tours. Moreover, according to a document published by Dr. E. Giraudet,³ he bought in 1505 a house in that town, and, as we learn from another document published by M. Ch. Grandmaison,⁴ he had an agency at Tours for the sale of his books.

The colophons of his books afford but little information as to his subsequent existence, except that in 1506 he enjoys the title of

³ Les Artistes tourangeaux. Tours, 1885.

⁴ Intermédiaire de l'Ouest, 1894 (No. 8).

“ Libraire juré de l'Universite.”¹ In January, 1507[08],² he obtains a “ privilege ” for three years from the king, forbidding any other printer or bookseller to print his books, under pain of confiscation. All V érard's books that have the privilege in the colophon are also dated, for legal purposes no doubt, so that any book without a privilege may be supposed to have been issued before January, 1507[08]. The only exception to this is the Orose of 1509, but this is merely a reprint of an earlier edition of V érard's, and perhaps for this reason did not require or could not be admitted to privilege. This grant of “ privilege ” would appear to have been unexpectedly received, since the Nef de Sante of 1508, issued in two forms (Nos. 85, 177), one with date and privilege, the other with neither.

The death of V érard cannot be fixed with any certainty. The last dated book printed for him (vol. 5 of the Grandes Postilles, No. 99) appeared in August, 1512, and he was no longer alive in 1514, since in that year the privilege of an edition of the Chroniques de Saint Denis, printed by Guillaume Eustace, applies to him the epithet feu. The date of his death has however been placed by some as far back as the beginning of 1512. This theory is based on the existence of several books (see Nos. 9, 108, 147, 163) bearing the following MS. note: “ Anthoine Verard libraire de Paris a donne ce pñt liure le xx^e de mars V^c & onze au monastere de clervaulx. priez dieu po^r luy ”. If these books were a bequest, the question is settled, but they may merely have been a present in V érard's lifetime—the concluding formula proves nothing to the contrary. We know from Lacroix du Maine³ that there was a Claude V érard at Cler-vaulx, and it was on his account no doubt that the bequest or gift was made. But it must be admitted, in favour of those who hold the theory of bequest, that the appearance of V érard's name in a colophon of August, 1512, proves very little, as will become evident when we have to deal with the publications of his successors.

SITE OF VÉRARD'S ESTABLISHMENT.

The colophons of Vérard's books, though often bearing no date, afford nevertheless a clue to a chronological classification, on account of the variations of the address, which is nearly always given. Thus up to October, 1499, he occupied an establishment on the Pont Notre Dame and a shop in the Sainte Chapelle. The bridge collapsed on October 25th, 1499, whereupon, still keeping his second establishment, Vérard changed his first to an address which appears variously as "Près Petit Pont," "rue Saint Jacques près Petit Pont," "Carrefour Saint-Séverin," "Petit Pont près du Carrefour Saint-Séverin," and "Petit Pont devant la rue Notre Dame." It has been generally supposed that the address "Carrefour S. Séverin" represents a separate and earlier establishment, which was only used till September, 1500, but this conflicts with the colophon of a Horæ (No. 226), which bears the date August 18th, 1502, and the address "Carrefour Saint-Séverin." Vérard's next move was in September, 1503, to an address which generally appears under the form "devant la rue Neuve Notre Dame," but is also described as "devant la grande église Notre Dame," "Pres l'ostel Dieu devant la rue Neuve Notre Dame," and "Devant Notre Dame." The Froissart of 1518 [No. 282], published by Vérard's successors, gives the alternative forms "devant la rue Neuve Notre Dame" and "rue de la Juiverie."

The colophon of one book, the Propriétaire (No. 146), bears a curious evidence of this change of address, as a blank space is left between the words "demourant a Paris" and "Au palais au premier pillier, etc." Again, in a vellum copy of the Trésor de l'âme (No. 129), the word sur in the expression sur le pont of the colophon has been erased, and tout deuant written in.

PUBLICATIONS.—VELLUM COPIES.

The nature and extent of Vérard's publications may be gathered from the bibliographical list in the present volume. They are all in the vernacular except some of the Horæ and one of his latest dated books, the Liber auctoritatum (No. 102). The latter is also the only one printed with type of the kind then generally used for Latin books. His publications may be roughly divided into (1) Books of devotion ; (2) Books of chivalry ; (3) Poems and light literature, chiefly amatory ; (4) Quasi-scientific books ; (5) Translations of the Classics. There is nothing in Latin or Greek—the Renaissance had hardly reached France in Vêrard's time. The typography and illustrations of Vêrard's books, though justly celebrated, are distinctly inferior to the best productions of certain Parisian printers, for instance Jean Dupré, but in one respect he is without a rival—in the sumptuous illuminated copies on vellum, produced for his royal and other distinguished patrons. The Bibliothèque Nationale at Paris contains an astonishing number of these magnificent books, done for Charles VIII., Louis XI., and Anne of Brittany. Charles VIII.'s copy of the Chroniques de France contains, according to Van Praet, no less than 951 miniatures. At the British Museum also are numerous volumes only less magnificent, collected by Henry VII., whose name is sometimes substituted in MS. for that of Charles VIII. in dedication or prologue (see No. 37).

The costliness of this elaborate ornamentation appears from a bill sent in by Vêrard to his patron, the Comte d'Angoulême, which will be found in the Appendix to the present work.¹ This document is of particular interest, because the Bibliothèque Nationale, where it rests, also contains an inventory of the effects of Vêrard's patron, the Comte d'Angoulême, made at Cognac on November 20th and 21st, 1496, after his death on January 1st in that year, as well as the books themselves, which, being inherited by Francis I., passed into the Bibliothèque du Roi, and so into the Bibliothèque Nationale. The two documents and the books, therefore, throw considerable light on the details of Vêrard's bill. For most of the following details we are indebted to an article by M. Auguste Bernard in the Bulletin du Bibliophile for October, 1860.

¹ The copies on vellum often had portions of letterpress reprinted, or other variations. See Nos. 109, 116, 223.

We shall discover that various errors occur in the account ; but as the total is the same as that arrived at from the corrected figures, it may be supposed that the bill has survived only in an incorrect transcript. Notes on the five books mentioned are here appended.

Tristan.—The first volume only of this survives in the Bibliothèque Nationale (No. 130 in the List at end). It is undated, but from its occurrence in the inventory, must have been printed before 1496. The description there given of it, as bound in “veloux tanné,” is now no longer accurate. Vérard appears to cheat himself with regard to this volume, which has ninety-one, not eighty-one leaves (IIII^{xx}XI not IIII^{xx}I), but errs in the opposite direction in charging for eighty-five instead of eighty-one small illustrations.

Le Grant Boece de Consolacion (No. 37 in the List).—This volume is in the Bibliothèque Nationale, though despoiled of its veloux tanné, and of a blank leaf which, of course, Vérard has charged for.

L'Ordinaire des Crestiens (No. 39 in the List).—This volume is in the Bibliothèque, lacking its cover of veloux tanné and its fermoers (clasps). In the same library is another vellum copy of this book, illuminated for Charles VIII., though on a more modest scale.

L'Orloge de Devocion.—Dealing with this book as with the preceding, we are soon brought to a stop. The inventory mentions no such book, but does mention an Orloge de Sapience. Moreover, Vérard, so far as is known, never published an edition of the former work, though he did of the second. The Bibliothèque Nationale, again, possesses three copies on vellum of an edition of the Orloge de Sapience published by Vérard in 1493, a date which would admit of the book being supplied to the Comte d'Angoulême. So far, it would appear that Vérard or his clerk has made a mistake. The details, however, point to a different conclusion. The work mentioned in the bill appears to consist of twenty-two leaves of parchment at twenty deniers a sheet, whereas the Orloge de Sapience is made up of twenty sheets of the same size as the Boece and the Ordinaire des Crestiens, costing therefore two sous six deniers a sheet.

Again, it is quite possible that the Orloge de Sapience of the inventory is not in the bill at all, not falling within the period covered by it. The fact of the Orloge de Devocion being in the bill and not in the inventory may be explained on the supposition that it was kept by the count's widow, Louise of Savoy, for her personal use.

Another hypothesis—probably the right one—is that the book in the bill is correctly called the Orloge de Devocion, but that in this instance Vérard used a volume from a rival establishment. Now there does exist an edition of the Orloge de Devocion nearly corresponding to Vérard's description. Its title runs: L'Oreloge de Devocion, composé en françoys par messire Jehan Quentin, and it was printed at Paris for M. E. Jehannot. The copy of this book at the Bibliothèque Nationale actually contains the required number (twenty-five) of miniatures; but the number of leaves (ninety-four) presents a difficulty, for the twenty-two "feuilles" (quarto sheets) in the bill would only make eighty-eight leaves (feuillets).

Heures en françoys.—There is at the Bibliothèque Nationale an undated Vérard Horæ (No. 223) containing the necessary 108 leaves (= twenty-seven sheets), which may well have been published before 1496, and is possibly the book alluded to. The miniatures in this copy do not correspond to the description in the bill, but it was not à priori probable that the Comte d'Angoulême's Horæ would be with the other books in the library, since they would probably be retained for the use of his widow.

Among Vérard's royal patrons was a foreign king—Henry VII. of England—for whom a large number of vellum copies were illuminated, many of which are still to be seen in the British Museum. It was hoped that a search through the Household and Wardrobe accounts of this monarch preserved at the Record Office might afford some interesting details. One entry only relating to Vérard can be found, namely, in the Account Books of John Heron,

Treasurer of the Chamber, under date 18th June, 17th Hen. VII. (1501-2) :

“Item to Anthony Vêrard for two bokes called the gardyn of helth £6.”

This refers, of course, to the Ortus Sanitatis (No. 140), and the identical copy (in two parts) is still in the British Museum. It is not printed on vellum.

It is somewhat surprising that special vellum copies illuminated for Henry VII. should have passed out of his possession and be found in this century in the Bibliothèque Nationale (Homélies de S. Grégoire, No. 66) or Osterley Park Library (Bible des Poetes, No. 31).

Various books, formerly in the library of Henry VIII., published by Vêrard, were doubtless supplied by him to that monarch.

PRINTER OR PUBLISHER ?

In the foregoing remarks we have taken for granted that Vêrard was a publisher, but the view has been strenuously supported, and cannot be so summarily put aside, that he was a printer also. The doubt has arisen from the wording of the colophons, which might have been expected to decide the question.

Of the 253 works or editions hereinafter described, only twenty-eight profess themselves printed “par Antoine Vêrard.” No distinguishing feature is apparent in these, so that their phrasing cannot be due to the whim of a particular printer. The Miroir Historial of 1495-6 (No. 42) exhibits both forms, in vol. 1 “imprimé pour” and in vol. 5 “imprimé par,” while the intervening volumes are merely stated to be “imprimé à Paris.” The colophon of the Martilloge des faulces langues (No. 118) seems to point clearly to Vêrard’s part in the production of a book. The MS. being sent to him, he looks it over, shows it to various men of learning, by whom it is corrected, and determines to get it printed (faire imprimer).

On the other hand, in the introduction to the Temple d’honneur (No. 189), which contains no colophon, it is stated with equal clearness that the MS. was “sent to Antoine Vêrard, a bookseller in Paris, who thought well to put it on his printers' formes (?) (ses formes impressoires) and to publish it abroad."

The Horæ exhibit almost without exception the form pour, but one has p (No. 197), and in a copy of another (No. 206) the last three letters of pour have been deleted. Another (No. 240) claims to have been "acheué par Anthoine Verad," but this expression may pass, since the illumination may well have been done in Vêrard's establishment. The testimony of the colophons is evidently quite inconclusive.

The view of the present writer has at least one merit, that no one can entirely disagree with it. It is that Vêrard employed various printers to print certain of his books, but that the bulk of them were produced in an establishment of his own. This view is chiefly deduced from the elaborate analysis by Mr. R. Proctor of the French incunabula in the British Museum and the Bodleian,¹ and it has been fortified by an examination of other Vêrard books at Oxford, Cambridge, and Paris, and Amiens. Mr. Proctor has been able to show that the great majority of types used by Vêrard are peculiar to him ; the inference being, so far, either that he had his own printing establishment, or had various printers to work for him who were not allowed to use for ordinary work the types employed on Vêrard's orders. This second alternative is, however, ruled out by the remarkable way in which the types are combined with one another, making it certain that they were all in use in the same establishment. Thus, in the Merlin of 1498 (No. 54) there are alternate sections in types 3* and 7, in the Ogier (No. 121) alternate leaves in types 2* and 11^c, in the Roman de la Rose alternate leaves in types 2, 11* and 13, and in the latter the types have evidently got somewhat mixed. In other books, which it would be tedious to enumerate, somewhat less intimate combinations may be found through use of large types for title-pages, margins, headings, indexes, etc., so that no type is isolated. The types not peculiar to Vêrard may be identified as belonging to various printers, whose names appear in conjunction with them in at least one book. These arguments would no doubt be strengthened if analysis could be made of all "Vérard" books which neither the British Museum nor the Bodleian possess. A considerable number have been inspected by the present writer, who undertakes to say that the greater portion of them may be ranged under a few familiar types believed to be peculiar to Vérard, while he has seldom ventured to assign an origin to the others.

VÉRARD AS AUTHOR.

This rubric may wear a doubtful aspect, but there are certain compositions in verse which appear to justify it. To several vellum copies, intended for royal use, Vérard has prefixed dedications in verse, presumably of his own composition, unless, indeed, he got them done by a hack and suppressed his name. Thus, the Lancelot at the Bibliothèque Nationale (Vél. 614) has a long dedication, of which the following may serve as a sample :

Courage hault noble cheualereux
 Honte craignant desirant estre eueux
 Armes requiert po^r entrer aux assaulx
 Raison pour quoy le cheualier paoureux
 Lequel nest point hardi aduentureux
 En faiz darmes na iamaïs bons vassaulx
 Souuerain roy haultain chief des royaulx
 De nobles meurs vostre courage emplez
 Et les beaulx faiz des nobles contemplez
 Vous les verrez en ce liure chier sire

 La trouueriez faiz de cheualerie
 Les grans assaulx de la gendarmerie
 Ou les lasches sont demeurez au bac
 Icy tous bruitz verrez de seigneurie
 Signantement de Lancelot du lac, etc.

A more ambitious composition is one addressed to Anne of Brittany, over three hundred lines long, and adorned with twelve miniatures (Bib. Nat. MS. Fr. 1686). The first page here follows :

[C]Onsidere très noble et puissant dame
 Que nous devons de cuer de corps et de âme
 Par chacun jour avoir compassion
 De l'engoisseuse et dure passion
 Que nostre Dieu de son bon gré souffrit
 En mémorant le temps auquel se offrit

ILLUSTRATIONS.

The illustrations in Vérard's books, when closely examined, hardly bear out their reputation. Sets of blocks appear to have been expressly cut to adorn some thirty editions, and of these a few never appear again, while the others are used time after time. The extent of this repeated use may be judged from the table of cuts in the Appendix, in which forty-five blocks, selected either from their frequent occurrence or as types of artistic style, have been traced systematically in their progress through Vérard's publications. Reproductions of most of them have also been given. It was hoped that a comparison of the successive states would give clues to the chronology of the undated books, but the Vérards in the British Museum are not sufficiently numerous, and the present writer has not had leisure to apply this method in the libraries of Paris. The greatest care would however be necessary in applying this test, as there appears to have been a practice of mending cracks in wood-blocks, especially in the outer edges. Besides being repeatedly used in book after book, it not uncommonly happens that the same cut is used again and again in the same book. An extreme instance of this practice is the Merlin of 1498 (No. 54), of which the chief adornment is a cut (No. 3) repeated no less than twenty times. A picture of a battle, it may be argued, is never out of place in a romance of chivalry. Some such far-fetched plea is nearly always necessary to justify the presence of a cut in any but the work it was designed for. For instance, in the Josephus of 1492 (No. 21) the spoliation of a country is represented by the burial of a woman, the death of Samson by a picture of the Temple, and the Sacrifice of Isaac helps the reader to conceive the execution of a malefactor, while a mention of the sea brings out a cut of Noah's Ark.

Vérard's first two books, the Decameron and the Ditz moraux des philosophes contained only one cut apiece, which are not elsewhere seen in his publications, but from that time onwards we find cuts that became a permanent portion of our publisher's stock. Thus the Livre des proufitz champestres of 1486 is adorned with a charming set of small cuts, one of which (No. 21), representing the common theme, an Author at his desk, was very frequently employed, and was handed down to Vérard's successors. In the Cent Nouvelles nouvelles of the same year is a set of small cuts (e.g., No. 1) which are afterwards continually employed for books of the like frivolous tendency. The Végèce of 1488 furnishes a notable set of oblong cuts of a martial or courtly nature, of which Nos. 2-4, 4a, are specimens.

The Chevalier Délibéré of 1488 is only known to exist in the copy at the Hofbibliothek at Vienna, but from descriptions and photographs kindly furnished by Dr. Göldlin von Tiefenau it is clear that this is the source of a set of cuts frequently occurring in Vérard's books and originally designed for this poem. From the same source we learn that the Legende dorée of 1490[91], of which also the only known copy is at Vienna, is copiously illustrated. This may be the source of many cuts of a religious nature found in Vérard's books. The illustrations of his books of chivalry cannot be traced back farther than the Orose of 1491 and the Josephus of 1492 (Nos. 16, 21). Many of the cuts in the latter appear to have been designed for a Bible, but this edition remains to be discovered. In the same year appeared the Art de Bien Mourir, the cuts of which are frequently used in later books. The Bible des Poetes of 1493[94] supplies a number of full-page cuts closely adapted to the text of Ovid's Metamorphoses, of which the book is a translation, and afterwards used for far different purposes. From the Lancelot of the same year come a few full-page cuts afterwards commonly used in books of chivalry. The Epistres Saint Pol of 1507[08] is adorned by a number of full-page cuts (e.g., No. xliii.) from the Cité de Dieu printed at Abbeville in 1486. These however are found in several undated books that have no privilege in the colophon, and were probably therefore issued before January, 1507[08]. Also, just before this date we find in Vérard's books a number of cuts of a most peculiar heavy style, of which No. 45 is an example. The Postilles of 1511-12 contain a large number of new cuts, but they mark the end of Vérard's career. By a fortunate chance all the sets of cuts above-mentioned make their first appearance (i.e., most nearly fit the text they adorn) in dated books. One undated book adds considerably to Vérard's stock, namely, the Terence (No. 152), which must have been issued between 1500 and 1503. The cuts in this are produced by numerous small blocks of persons and scenes, capable of infinite arrangements, with or without alteration in the legends. Of this set Nos. xxxix.-xl., respectively, are reproduced as specimens. Cut No. 40 is one of a set very commonly used, first appearing in the Regnards trauersans (No. 149), which dates it between 1500 and 1503.

There are a certain number of sets of illustrations that only appear in one or more editions of a single book, either because their themes did not adapt them for frequent use, or because they were never in Vêrard's possession. This latter explanation may be adopted in cases where they are accompanied by types not elsewhere used by Vêrard. Thus in the Doolin (No. 65) is a set illustrating martial scenes; in the Grandes Postilles (No. 99), and in the Pélerinage de l'homme (No. 101) a religious set. In the Pélerin de vie humaine is a most remarkable set, of rude draughtsmanship, of which No. xxxiv. is a specimen. The Ortus Sanitatis (No. 140) is copiously illustrated with small grotesque cuts illustrating natural objects; another quasi-scientific work, the Propriétaire (No. 146), has a set in the same heavy style and by the same hand, apparently, as No. 45. In this style also is a set, not elsewhere used, in the Valère le Grant (No. 153). The Cœur de philosophie (No. 159), also of a scientific nature, has a set of diagrams illustrating astrology and chiromancy, for which no further use appears to be found. The full-page cuts in the Figures du vieil Testament et du nouvel (No. 163), imitated from the Biblia Pauperum, are not to be found in any other book of Vêrard's.

Sources.—As to the sources whence Vêrard's illustrations were obtained, very little is known. Two books at least¹ were drawn upon, the Cité de Dieu, printed by Jean Dupré at Abbeville in 1486, and the Mer des Hystoires, printed by Guillaume Lerouge for Vincent Commin in 1488. The fact that Vêrard used the cuts from the latter work has been used by M. Monceaux² as a chief support of his argument that Lerouge and his brother printed all Vêrard's books, at least those not avowedly the work of another printer. This argument from the occurrence of cuts is most unsafe, for M. Monceaux's conclusions are impossible to reconcile with the facts we shall adduce. Thus cuts from the Mer des Hystoires occur in an edition of the Arbre des Batailles and in Les Vigilles de la mort du feu roy Charles septiesme, both printed at Paris in 1493, and both avowedly by Jean Dupré. This same printer published a Vie des Pères in 1486, which has on its title a cut also to be found on the last leaf of the Postilles published at Troyes in 1492. Yet the appearance of this cut in a book of Vérard's is proof enough that Lerouge printed it, if we are to believe M. Monceaux. A fine capital I, exhibiting Christ with upraised finger, appearing in vol. 2 of the Mer des Hystoires, is to be found in an edition of the same work printed at Lyons in 1491, which Lerouge, presumably, had nothing to do with. This exchange of cuts among printers and publishers is further illustrated by a book printed for Jean Petit, the Généalogie . . . Godefroy de Bouillon (Paris, 1504, 4°), which contains a varied assortment of Vérard's cuts, e.g., Nos. 38, 4 (and others from the Cæsar of 1488[?]), 44.

The sources whence Vérard took cuts for imitation were doubtless many—a few can be perceived. Thus the title-page of the Destruction de Troie la Grant is imitated from that of the Lyons edition printed by Husz in 1485; the Kalendar of Shyppars (No. 68) contains numerous cuts imitated from the German, and one at least imitated from a cut used by the Lerouges at Troyes; the Exposicions des épîtres et évangiles (No. 100) contains a set imitated from Knoblouch's editions of the Passionis Christi unum ex quatuor Euangeliiis textum printed at Strasburg about 1508.

Before leaving the subject of the illustrations one or two of Vérard's contrivances may be mentioned. When blocks became worn out, or when perhaps it was merely desired to produce a cheap book, the blocks were shortened. This may be seen in Vérard's latest edition of the Bible des Poetes (No. 155), published about 1507, in which all the folio cuts have been thus treated, and in the 1509 edition of Senecque des motz dorez (No. 188), where the well-known frontispiece-cut (No. 10) appears in abbreviated shape.

In using cuts for books that they were not meant to illustrate, it became necessary for Vérard to remove the existing legend. Thus the blocks of the Chevalier Délibéré appearing in later books bear evident traces of mutilation, and sometimes from the appearance of the border (as in No. 29) it is evident that a piece has been inserted. Another practice of Vêrard's was to insert small blocks in borders that did not belong to them (see Nos. 91, 179, 180, 147). This last is a remarkable instance, as each border encloses two cuts, a small one from the Horæ, together with one of two representations of S. Jerome, producing a most bizarre effect (see cut No. xxxviii.).

Fate after Vêrard's Death.—To trace the subsequent history of the cuts used in Vêrard's books is a matter of no great interest, perhaps, but a few facts are here recorded. Cut No. 36 is found in a late but undated Mirouer de la redempcion humaine.¹ A *Lancelot*² published by Jean Petit in 1530[?] contains cut No. 26. The quasi-device of Vêrard (plate No. lxxviii.) is on the title-page of La translacion de la bulle de la croysade, etc., 1516.³ Two cuts from Vêrard's Terence are in Le Livre du faulcon des dames [1525].⁴ The cuts of the Art de bien Mourir afterwards went over to England, and some of these are found as late as 1568 in The Booke of Nurture (T. East : London, 4°), having thus a career of at least seventy-five years.

INITIALS.

The initials used by Vêrard, especially on the title-pages of his book, have always been much remarked, so much so that the appearance of a remarkable L on a title-page of a Paris book has often been enough to secure its ascription to Vêrard, if no other printer's or publisher's name were there. A series comprising nearly all of Vêrard's L's is given in the Appendix, and the appearance of each has been noted in the bibliographical descriptions. Their appearance does not as a rule afford any clue to the chronology of the undated books, as their use extended over too long a period. L No. 4, for instance, first appears in the title-page of the Bible des Poetes of 1493[4], and must have been worn out in April, 1509, when we find it, recut, in the Énéide.

³ M. E. Picot's Catalogue of Library of Baron James de Rothschild (No. 2727).

⁴ Ibid. (No. 571).

L No. 8 first appears in a dated book in December, 1505, and is used in five other dated books up to March, 1506[07], so that the undated books in which it occurs may fairly be dated about 1506. They could not, as a matter of fact, be dated earlier than 1503, on account of the address in their colophons, nor after January, 1508, owing to the absence of a privilege. L No. 10 appears only in one undated book, the Nef de Santé of January, 1507[08], which can be dated by other means.

L No. 1, doubtless belonging to Pierre Levet, the printer of the Sydrach, does not seem to occur elsewhere among Vérard books. L No. 2, M. Claudin informs me, was used by Jehannot and Le Dru. L No. 3 is little used, and No. 5 only once, in the Boece.

L No. 6 is one of two imitations from an original L which may be found in the *Livre du Faucon*¹ (Paris, s.l.n.d.). One copy was used by Le Caron in 1489 and afterwards transferred to Vérard; another was used by Guillaume Lerouge at Troyes (in his Danse Macabre of 1491).²

The identification of these L's is a matter of considerable difficulty, because Vérard made imitations of L's that pleased him, and his occasional printers made imitations, presumably with his permission, of L's that he already possessed (see No. 45). Sometimes, too, a familiar initial becomes unrecognizable through a fresh ornament being added to the block. Thus the L on the title-page of the Martilloge des faulces langues (No. 118) is really that of the Commentaires Jules César (No. 259) with a slight addition. The small breaks in the letter render identification certain.

Vérard uses numerous sets of initials in the body of the text of his publications. The appearance of the earliest, a small black set, is a help to chronology. In the Art de Bien Mourir of 1492 spaces are mostly left for the rubricator to fill in the small initials, yet in certain cases F and C are filled in with printed letters. In the Lancelot of July, 1494, for the first time a set similar to these two is used throughout, whereas in the Boccaccio of the end of the same year they are omitted, as also, in part, in the Ordinaire des Chrétiens of 1495. In the following year they are regularly used. So that 1494, 1495, or 1496 may be assigned as the date of a book in which the initials are omitted, are partly used, or used throughout.

The other sets of initials used by Vérard only appear when he has left the Pont Notre Dame. They are (1) a set adorned with flowers, alluded to in the present work as the "floral"; (2) a set composed of flourishes, here called the "calligraphic"; (3) a set exhibiting "grotesque" heads, and here so called; (4) a set with rounded projections, here called "bossed."

DEVICE.

Vérard followed the custom of his time in using a device, which is often the only indication of his connection with a book. The earlier form is only found in three books, the Cent Nouvelles nouvelles of 1486 (No. 4), the Sydrach of 1487 (No. 5), the Vegece of 1488 (No. 6), the first two printed by Levet, the last by Marchand. Subsequently it was appropriated by another of Vérard's printers, Pierre Le Caron, who cut out Vérard's monogram from the heart in the centre and his name from the lower edge, and printed his own name in the space thus left blank by the block. Two books are known that bear this modified device, namely, a copy of Les lunettes des Princes in the library of Baron James de Rothschild (a facsimile is given in M. Picot's Catalogue) and a book in the public library of Rouen, of which a photograph has been taken by Mademoiselle Pellechet. A new device, of much better workmanship than the earlier one, first appears in the Politiques daristote of 1489 (No. 9), and continued in use with Vêrard's successors. The effects of use appear to show that it was cut on metal. On the title-page of a few books, a monogram composed of the letters AV will be found ; and sometimes in vellum copies a painted device is used, exhibiting a heart with monogram flanked by birds.

TRADE PRACTICES.

An attentive study of Vêrard's publications does not tend to clear his rather doubtful reputation. He had a habit of suppressing the names of the printers who worked for him, which becomes rather discreditable when effected by scratching out the colophon, as in the Destruction de Troie (No. 52), or obscuring it by an illuminated device, as in the Fais Alain Chartier (No. 109). However, sometimes the colophon is erased in the vellum copies even when the printer's name is not there, as in the Doolin (No. 65) and the Château de Virginité (No. 73).¹ The whole question of this deletion of colophons is rather obscure. In the case last mentioned there seems to have been a desire to get rid of the date, so as to sell the copy under the guise of a novelty. In certain cases, e.g., the Ordinaire des Crestiens of 1494 and the Boece of 1494 (No. 37), the date only has been erased. The Coûtumier de Touraine (No. 86) exhibits an erasure of date in two copies at Paris and Tours² respectively. In the former the word sept has been erased and written in again. The reason of this is not apparent.

¹ See also Nos. 30, 260.

There is one case, that of the Vienna copy on vellum of the Jouvencel of 1497 (see No. 266), where the date has been made four years later to indicate the termination of the illuminator's task.

An incorrect date may sometimes be found in the colophons for a quite contrary reason; in cases where an edition has been exactly reprinted the old date has been retained, e.g., the Lancelot (No. 166), reprinted after Vérard's move to his establishment, "deuant la rue neufue Nostre Dame," has the date of the earlier edition, 1494, in the colophon of the first volume. Similarly the Horæ of January 14th, 1500, were reprinted at the new address, the original date remaining unaltered (see No. 253).

It will sometimes be found that a book of quite early date has a portion in a type chiefly used in the fifteenth century.¹ This was due, no doubt, to a loss of certain sheets, which might very well have been caused by Vérard's frequent removes.

The treatment accorded by Vérard to his authors was unscrupulous enough, if we may judge from one case of which particulars have been handed down to us. One Jean Bouchet wrote for him a book called Les Regnards trauersans, which Vérard on the title-page ascribes to Sebastian Brandt, the author of the Stultifera Navis, while leaving the real author's name hidden in an acrostic at the end. The wretched author, by his own account, was not so much aggrieved at all this as by the liberties taken with his MS., which drove him to prosecute his publisher. The full narrative is found in part 2 of Bouchet's Epistres morales & familières du trauerseur, Poitiers, 1545 :

Le premier fut les Regnards trauersans
L'an mil cinq cens, qu'auois vingt cinq ans,
Ou feu Verard pour ma simple jeunesse
Changea le nom, ce fut a luy finesse,
L'intitulant au nom de monsieur Brand

BOOKS OF HOURS.

Vérard's Books of Hours form so considerable a part of his output that they require a paragraph to themselves.

The claim of Vérard to have published the earliest Horæ has been generally admitted on the strength of his edition of August, 1486, at the Bibliothèque Nationale. Just as the present lines were going to press, news was sent by M. Masson, of Amiens, of a yet earlier edition in his possession, dated February 6th, 1485[86]. This (No. 195) appears to rank with the two following editions, being adorned with small cuts. Vérard's next advance was in No. 198, with cuts of considerably greater dimensions, surrounded by borders. This edition is closely linked, by the resemblance of the borders, with No. 200, and both are printed with the types of Dupré. Intermediate in date between these two come the Petites Heures of February, 1489[90], with the same cuts as before, but new borders of a particularly pleasing nature. These passed before July 10th, 1493, into the possession of Laurens Philippe, since they appear in a Horæ of that date printed by him. The next type in the evolution of Vérard's Horæ is the Grandes Heures, of which undated editions have been ascribed to the year 1488, on account of the almanack for 1488-1508 that they contain. This evidence is not however conclusive, as the almanacks were commonly reprinted year after year without alteration. As therefore the blocks in the undated editions show greater signs of wear than those of the earliest dated edition (of August, 1490), we must for the present regard the latter as the earliest.¹ The Grandes Heures contain the cuts of the Petites Heures, with one additional, representing David on horseback, and are adorned with fine wide borders of cuts interspersed with text. No two copies of these Heures that have come under our notice are exactly alike, a circumstance probably due in part to the number of dioceses for which special issues were made up, and to the caprices of private persons.

The later of the Vêrard Horæ, beginning, as far as is known, with No. 219 (August 10th, 1498), contain illustrations imitated from Pigouchet. The origin and sequence of these illustrations, as far as the sixteenth century issues in the British Museum are concerned, are exhibited in a diagram in the Appendix. It will be seen that there are five sets of them (marked for reference a, a*, b, c, and d). Set a is copied from the second set used by Pigouchet; set a*, closely resembling a, from Pigouchet's third set, which is modelled on his second; set b is copied from Pigouchet's fourth set, though cuts Nos. 3, 20, 24, are different; set c comes from his fifth set; set d is made up of odd cuts, of which No. 3 is found on the title of the Utrecht missal printed in 1497 by Higman and Hopyl, and No. 5 in the Postilles printed by G. Lerouge at Troyes in 1491. The chronological order of Horæ Nos. 8-11 in the chart is fixed by cracks in cut No. 13, and to some extent in Nos. 8, 11, 20, 21. Horæ Nos. 6 and 7 are partly identical, and evidently closely connected in date. The Sarum Horæ (No. 2 in chart) has its date fixed by cut No. 3, which is more broken than in 1503, and by cut No. 8, which belongs to set a, and was therefore not used after 1505. This Sarum edition has a large number of additional cuts—a set of twenty-two, representing the Saints, six representing the Passion, and a Pentecost and an Image of Pity in the criblé style.

VÉRARD'S SUCCESSORS.

This much-debated problem the present writer admits himself unable to clear up. The bare facts may be easily presented. There are six books issued by one or other of these successors. The three dated are a Froissart of 1518 and a Séjour d'Honneur of 1519, with the familiar device of Antoine Vérard and his name in the colophon, and a Petrarque of 1514 with the name of Barthélemy Vérard in the colophon and his device.¹ Of the undated books, there is a Bible, also with the name and device of Barthélemy, a Vita Christi with the name of Barthélemy and the device of Antoine, and a Psalterium with the name of Antoine and the device of Barthélemy. Further, in 1527 a book appears,² Les Mots dorés de Sénèque, printed in April, 1527 [1528], "for Germaine Guyart, widow of Antoine Vérard."

To these testimonies must be added the lawsuits³ of May 20th, 1528, where Germaine Guyart appears with Marguerite, Jeanne, and Guillaume Vérard, and in another court, "Catherine Laillier, widow of the late Barthélemy Vérard, who was also son and heir of Antoine Vérard deceased," all requiring the division of certain vineyards formerly the property of Antoine Vérard.

On these facts, the theory of Baron Pichon and M. Vicaire is that there were two Antoinnes, the first the well-known publisher, the second a son of his who published from 1518 to 1527; and that Barthélemy was the son of the second Antoine. As, however, his only dated book appears in 1514, this theory involves the somewhat extraordinary supposition that he took on the business at his grandfather's death, and was succeeded by his own father.

This difficulty may be avoided by supposing that the name of Antoine of the colophons after 1514 is merely copied from the earlier ones as being a sort of trade mark (and it may be mentioned that all of them, except perhaps the Psalterium Daviticum, are reprints of publications of the "original" Antoine). It will be seen that there is nothing in the legal documents inconsistent with this view, which would make the "Antoine" mentioned in them to be one and the same person.

If this theory of the loose usage of Vérard's name be accepted, it will be admitted that the use of the two devices may well have been looser still, so it is not worth while trying to account for the varying combinations of names and devices just now alluded to.

Illustrations: (1) Art de Bien Mourir. A set of illustrations imitated from the German block-books of the Ars Moriendi; on [a₄ b]. No. 6.

(2) Leguyllon de crainte diuine, etc. Each of the "peines d'enfer" is set forth in a cut. This set closely resembles one used by Guyot Marchand in his 1493 edition of the same book. Whether this is a case of imitation on one side or the other, or of copying from a common source, is undecided.

Besides this set the treatise contains on [d₁ a] a cut by the same artist as No. 31, and much resembling it.

(3) Aduenement de antechrist. A few miscellaneous cuts, e.g. on [k₁ a] No. 17; on the verso of that leaf a small cut also found, with many others from the same hand, in the Roman de la Rose of [1498?], and on [l₂ b] No. 31. Besides these there is a set of cuts illustrating the "quinze signes," and one of the "Jugement dernier," all by an inferior hand, and a full-page cut of the Deity surrounded by the Blessed.

(4) The Art de bien Viure is copiously illustrated. The common frontispiece-cut, No. 17, occurs twice; on [BB₂ a] one of the "peines d'enfer" is used again, without any particular reference to the text.

There are also several sets of cuts (1) in compartments, with labels, illustrating scenes from the Bible history; (2) an oblong set, representing the Adoration of the Virgin, the Lord's Prayer, the Apostles, etc.; (3) a full-page set, illustrating the Sacraments.

Many of the cuts throughout the book are reproduced by M. Monceaux, though in many cases from an illuminated copy. Several of the large cuts are surrounded by borders from the Mer des Hystoires.

On [FF₈] are found a small black initial L and C, the former in two varieties. Elsewhere in the book spaces are left for rubricated initials, the corresponding lower-case letter being sometimes printed in the middle. On [a₂ a] is a large initial E in the same style as the large initials of the Mer des Hystoires.

Type : No. 3.

Copies known : Brit. Mus. (C. 53. g. 8), Ars.,* Bib. Nat.* (Vél. 354 is without the first leaf, and contains only the Art de bien mourir and the Aiguillon de crainte divine. Bib. Nat. Vél. 351 also contains part of these, and in this copy, as in Vél. 354, the device of Vérard has been painted over that of Lerouge. D* 852 contains the Avenement de l'Antichrist and the Quinze Signes, bound with a different edition of the first part. The description of this follows.) In the British Museum copy AA₁ is blank, and leaf i₆ is a spurious insertion, bearing on its verso the words "Les paines denfer et les pai-/nes de purgatoire."

Le xviii. iour Dauril.//

Note: The beginning of the title, in the Bib. Nat. copy, down to the word "fait" is written in blue ink. The printed title begins: Icy est le compost et kalēdrier des Bergiers Nouuellement refait et autrement compose que nestoit par auant Ou quel, etc., as appears from the description given of the other known copy in Firmin-Didot's catalogue of his library. From the same source it would appear that the painted coat-of-arms below the title covers an impression of the device of Guyot Marchand. Sig. b of this copy belongs to the edition printed by Marchand in July of the same year. For further details concerning this and other editions of the Compost in which Vérard was not concerned, see Dr. H. O. Sommer's Prolegomena to his facsimile reprint of The Kalender of Shepherds, London, 1892. Vérard's device is painted over the colophon; but the latter is sufficiently visible to show its identity with that of the July edition.

Illustrations: Numerous cuts (many from the Josephus of 1492), mostly repeated, e.g. [a₃ a] No. 10, [a₁ a] No. 31, [f₃ a] No. 32, [n₆ a] No. 16, [n₇ b] No. 14, [o₂ a] No. 23, [p₈ b] No. 13. Many of these cuts were designed to illustrate an edition of the Chevalier Délibéré, and appear sometimes with the legend cut away more or less carefully. Sometimes from the breaks in the borders, it is evident that a new piece has been inserted into the block to fill up the space.

Illustrations: A large number of cuts first used by Vêrard in his Art de bien Mourir of 1492 and his Terence of 1500 (?), also a few miscellaneous cuts, e.g. on [m₁ b] No. 21, on [a₁ b] No. 17, on [l₁ b] a cut showing angels supporting a shield on which are the emblems of the Passion. On [l₂ b] is a cut representing a shepherd finding his way by observation of the stars with an instrument. This appears at first sight identical with one used by Guyot Marchant at Paris and Nicolas Le Rouge at Troyes (Monceaux, i. 145), but on inspection proves to be a close imitation of it. There are also in the book a large number of other cuts, of German origin, and the calligraphic initials reproduced by M. Monceaux (ii. 176) are used throughout. For further information as to this book, see Dr. H. O. Sommer's Prolegomena to his facsimile reprint of it, London, 1892. The Chatsworth copy, from which this reprint was made, is the only perfect one known.

Type: This type is only known to exist elsewhere in a single leaf of an unknown edition of Alexander Barclay's Castle of Labour, discovered by Mr. Gordon Duff among the Bagford collections (Harl. 5919, No. 215).

Illustrations: Throughout, a large number of cuts of a religious nature. The illuminations in many cases do not hide the original design, but only a few seem to be used elsewhere in Vêrard's books. Of the latter most belong to a set of small German cuts, elsewhere alluded to. In vol. 1 in [m₂ b] is cut No. 32. Vol. 4 [āāāā₄ b] is a cut representing the author at his desk, and in the corner, Christ with the signs of the Passion. On the title-pages of vols. 2 and 4 respectively are L No. 6 and L No. 10.

Types: Nos. 10, 11, 12.

Copy known: Bib. Nat.* (Vêl. 118-122).

Note: In vol. 3 it is explained that the work was compiled by P. Desrey, "simple orateur natif de Troyes en champaigne," and "fais et impréssez pour honorable homme Anthoine verard Libraire iure en luniuersite dudit Paris. Et pour le quel pareillement est poursuy cette presente œuvre."

Illustrations : In vol. 1 : On [M₂ b] No. 32 ; also a small set of German cuts already used, and a set of folio cuts carefully copied from the Passionis Christi unus ex quatuor Euangelistis textus of which several editions were printed by Knoblouch at Strasburg about 1508.

Types : Nos. 1, 11, 12.

Copies known : Mazarine Library (1994 A. C.); another [vols. 1 and 2 only] in the library of M. Masson, at Amiens.

Note : It seems unlikely that this edition was really printed on the date given. It is probably a reprint by Vêrard's heirs, with the date left unaltered, of the edition just described.

101. Pelerinage de l'homme. 1511 [1512], 4 April. fol.

Collation : 2 unnumbered leaves without signature, followed by 106 numbered leaves, sig. a-r₆, s₄. Printed in double columns, 49 lines to a full column.

Illustrations : A large set of small cuts, having strict relation to the text ; also a few re-used cuts, e.g. on [a₁ a] No. 21 ; and on [p₆ a] and [s₃ a] composite cuts containing small blocks from the Terence of [1500?]. On title-page, L No. 10. Numerous small initials, 'grotesque,' 'floral,' etc.

Copy known : Brit. Mus. (C. 6. b. 15).

Note : The Prologue, in verse, gives a detailed account of the writing of the book by Guillaume de Deguileville, of its correction for the present edition, and of how it was printed at Paris "sans mettre ne oster Pour le sire anthoine verad."

102. Liber auctoritatum. [By Nicolaus de Querqueto, i.e. Nicolas de la Chesnaye.] 1512, 24 July. 8°.

Illustrations : This copy is one executed by Vêrard for Charles VIII. An illumination on the frontispiece represents him kneeling before a king and queen, with courtiers in the background. This page has a fine border of fleur-de-lys in blue and gold. The next leaf bears on its recto cut No. 17, illuminated, and having a similar border but of inferior execution. Doubtless an inferior artist was employed when an illumination was used merely to colour and not obliterate a woodcut. Throughout the book are illuminations, no doubt covering cuts.

Type : No. 3.

Copy known : Bib. Nat.* (Vél. 611).

104. Bible des Poetes. [Translated from the Metamorphoses of Ovid.] [1498 ?] fol.

Collation : 24 unnumbered leaves, sig. A-C₈, followed by 184 numbered leaves, sig. a-b₈, c₆, d-x₈, y-z₆, z₆ (the last missing and doubtless blank). Printed in double columns, 45-46 lines to a full column.

Illustrations : The book is copiously illustrated with cuts of all sizes from Vérard's books of chivalry, and a new set. There is also an extensive set of small German cuts, evidently made for an edition of the Bible, and closely adapted to the text. In vol. i. on [A₂ a] No. 17, [a₁ a] No. 39, [a₂ b] No. 37, [a₈ a] No. 36, [c₂ b] No. 22, [d₃ b] No. 1, [g₇ b] No. 26, [s₂ a] No. 25, [t₃ b] No. 27, [v₄ b] No. 24, [z₁ b] No. 33, [aa₅ a] No. 35, [aa₄ b] No. 21, [xx₁ a] cut from one of the Horæ. Illustrations : On [A₂ a] cut No. 18, also three cuts (of which No. 3 is one), repeated.

Type : 1, of Pierre Le Caron.

Copy known : Brit. Mus. (166. i. 22).

Note : This edition, no doubt issued in 1488, is a reprint of the edition of 1485 printed by Pierre Levet probably for Vêrard. Here the date of the completion of the volume has been altered from 1485 to 1488 (apparently with the idea that it was the date of impression), and Vêrard's colophon is added.

108. Bien advisé mal advisé. [1498?] fol.

Illustrations : On [h₆ b] cut of sinners thrust by devils into the jaws of Hell ; below the colophon a cut of the Judgment (Monceaux, ii. 109).

Copies known : Bib. Nat.* (Vél. 602), Chantilly.

Note : In the vellum copy at the Bib. Nat. the colophon after the word "aduise" is in MS. The copy at Chantilly has a MS. note stating that it was given to the monastery of Clairvaux by Vêrard, March 20, 1511 [1512].

109. Fais Alain Chartier. [1499?] fol.

Illustrations : On the title-page of the Fais, L No. 9. On the verso of the title-leaf is an elaborate cut—five personages sitting, wearing scarves, which appear as solid black portions of the cut, before them walk "le clerc," "le procureur" reading ; in the middle portion of the cut are "le greffe," "le receveur," sitting at tables : below are other groups. On [a₂ a] and on [A₁ a] is a cut of a man lying on a bed, propped on his right arm ; in the upper part of the cut are labels, in which the legends appear to have been removed. There are throughout a few quite small black initials, not elsewhere seen.

Type : No. 3 of Pierre Le Caron.

Copies known : Brit. Mus. (C. 22. f. 16[2]), Bib. Nat.* (Vél. 582).

Note : The vellum copy at the Bibliothèque Nationale has numerous small variations on the title-page, which reads: Les faiz mai/stre alain / charetier./ Tous charetiers tāt parfaiz q̃ imparfaiz, etc. The verso of the title is occupied by an illumination representing the author giving his book to a king. The colophon and device are absent, having apparently been deleted, and in their place is a small painted device, exhibiting a heart with Vêrard's monogram, flanked by birds.

Illustrations : On the title-page of each volume, L No. 4. No other cuts. Set of small black initials, serving to fix date of book, and a few large ones, especially an A.

Types : Nos. 3, 12.

Copies known : Brit. Mus. (595. k. 4-6), Bib. Nat.* (Vél. 743-6).

Note : In some of the volumes of the vellum copy an extra sheet has been introduced; the first leaf forms a cover, and the second, following the preliminary matter, bears an illumination as frontispiece.

112. Froissart. Chroniques. [Vol. 4 only.] [1497?] fol.

Collation : 2 unnumbered leaves, without signatures, followed by 112 numbered leaves, sig. AAA-LLL₈, MMM₁₀, NNN₆, OOO₈ (the last missing and doubtless blank). Printed in double columns, 46 lines to a full column.

Description : [fol. 1 a.] Le quart volume / de froissart / des croniques de france . dangleterre . descocce / despaigne . de bretagne . de gascongne . de flandres. Illustrations : On title-page, L No. 6, on [a₂ a] cut No. 17.

Types : Nos. 3, 4.

Copies known : Bib. Nat.* (Ye³⁶), Brit. Mus. (C. 22. b. 3), Maz.* (†742), Ars.* (B. L. 8388 bis).

Note : The number of lines to the page varies owing to the blank lines after each stanza, but there is space for 35. So far as can be judged without juxtaposition the two editions described in Mlle. Pellechet's Catalogue général des Incunables, etc., which are there distinguished by the number of lines to the page (Mazarine copy, 31 lines, Bib. Nat. copy, 32 lines) are exact duplicates of one another and of the copies at the British Museum and the Arsenal.

115. L'Homme pecheur. [1494 ?] fol.

Illustrations : On title, L No. 2, on [a₂ a] a cut of the Judgment, from the Petites Heures.

Copies known : Bib. Nat.* (Vél. 2236 and Rés. B. 1624).

Note : The vellum copy contains an error in the last line of the title, which is corrected in the other copy.

117. Instruction de la vie contemplative. [By Olivier Maillard.]
[1499 ?] 4°.

Collation : 46 unnumbered leaves, sig. a-b₃, c-g₆. 30 lines to a full page.

[g₆ b.] [Device.]

Illustrations : Apparently nowhere else used by Vêrard. Several are reproduced by M. Monceaux (op. cit.).

Type : No. 2.

Copy known : Bib. Nat. (Vél. 1769).

Note : The date 1503 (?) assigned to this book in the Inventaire ... des livres imprimés sur velin de la Bibliothèque Nationale, cannot be reconciled with the address in the colophon.

118. Martilloge des faulces langues. [By Guillaume Alexis.]
[1498?] 4°.

Collation : 40 unnumbered leaves, sig. a₈, b₆, c₆, d₆, e₆, f₆. 20 lines to a full page.

Description : [a₁ a.] Le martilloge / des faulces / langues.// [f₈ a.] Mon (sic) toutes ses choses veues et / considereez prins diligētement an/crē et papier pour rediger le vray de la matiere ainsi que veue et en/tendue lauoie. Et demeure ledit / marchant sur le pont nostre dame / a lenseigne de limage saint iehan / leuāgeliste ou au palais deuant la chappelle du roy nrē sire ou on chā/te la messe, etc.

Illustrations : On the title-page is an ornamental L, exactly the same as that on the title of the Commentaires Jules Cesar of 1485, except that it has a portion additional at the base. The numerous slight imperfections in the block leave no room for doubt as to the identity of these two blocks. On the verso of the title-page an illustration of sinners thrust by devils into the gaping jaws of Hell : on [a₁ a] No. 21.

Type : Marchand's type No. 2 is used throughout, producing a very fine effect.

Copy known : Bib. Nat.* (Ré. Ye. 1068).

119. Miroir de la rédemption humaine. [1496?] fol.

Collation : 176 leaves, numbered erroneously, with occasional intermission, 1-178, sig. a-o₈, p₆, q-s₈, t₆, v-y₈, z₆, z₆; followed by 36 leaves numbered, with errors, and 4 leaves unnumbered comprising the index, sig. A-B₃, C₆, D₃, E₆, F₄. Printed in double columns, 40-41 lines to a full column.

Description : [a₁ a.] Le miroir de la redemption humaine / Imprime a paris.// [F₄ b.] Cy finist la table du miroir de la redem-/pton humaine imprimee a paris pour anthoi-/ne verard libraire demourant sur le pont no-/stre dame a lenseigne de saint Iehan leuan-/geliste, ou au palais au premier pillier, etc.// [Device.]

Illustrations : Large number of illuminations suited to the passages near which they are placed. Most of them appear to be painted over cuts, e.g. on [a₂ a] No. 31 (?), [a₂ b] No. 36, [l₈ a] No. 22. Many others familiar. Initials, if any, covered up.

Type : No. 11 a.

Copies known : Brit. Mus. (C. 22. c. 10, on vellum), Bib. Nat.* (Vél. 906).

Note : The vellum copy in the Bibliothèque wants the index (containing the colophon), for which a MS. index has been substituted. The title-page of this copy is completely occupied with a very fine illumination, setting forth the fable recounted in the preface.

120. Mistere de la Resurrection. [By Jean Michel.] [1490?] fol.

Collation : 136 leaves without pagination, sig. a-s₈, except d, g, k, s, sixes [a₂ signed a₁]. Printed in double columns, 43 and 44 lines to a full column.

Illustrations : Remarkable set, of rude draughtmanship, made ad hoc, apparently.

Type : No. 7, with 'black' initials; but sigs. t₃, 4, in No. 12, with 'floral' initials.

Copies known : Maz.,* Lyons (very imperfect).

123. Recueil des histoires troyennes. [By Raoul Lefèvre.]
[1494?] fol.

Collation : 176 unnumbered leaves, sig. a-y₈ [last leaf missing, and doubtless blank]. 39 lines to a full page.

Description : [a₁ a.] Le recueil des histoires troiennes conte/nans troys liures. / Au premier est contenu la genealogie de saturne et de Jupiter sō filz avecques leurs faictz et gestes / Au second est contenu des faictz et des prouesses du vaillāt hercules, etc.// [y₇ a.] Finist le recueil des histoires de troies cōtenant la genealogie dice|le ensēble les glorieuses prouesses forces et vaillāces de hercules et / aussi les trois destruētōs et reedifications de ladiēte cite faictes / tāt par ledit preu Hercules cōme par les gregois Imprime a paris par Anthoine verard libraire demourāt sur le pont nostre dame a / limage saint iehā leuāgeliste ou au palais au premier pilier, etc.// [y₇ b.] [Device.]

Illustrations : On title-page, L No. 2. Numerous re-used cuts, e.g. [a₂ b], No. 23, [b₈ a] No. 13, [n₁ a] No. 16. The spaces for initials are left blank, which seems to date the book not later than 1494 : it cannot be earlier than the Orose of 1491, for which the earliest of the above cuts were designed.

Type : No. 11*.

Copies known : Brit. Mus. (C. 34. m. 5), Bib. Nat., Chantilly.

124. Roman de la Rose. [1490?] fol.

Collation : 144 unnumbered leaves, sig. a₃, b₆, c₃, a-g₆, h₃, i-z₆. Printed in double columns, 43 lines to a full column.

[z₃ b.] Cest fin du rommant de la rose

Ou lart damours est toute enclose.

[Erased portion.]

Imprime nouuellement a Paris.//

Illustrations : Only one cut (No. 38 on [z₆ a]) is discernible beneath the illuminations. As, however, this is one that had some connection with Jean Petit, perhaps he may have published this book, and his device may have preceded the colophon.

Type : No. 2.

Copy known : Bib. Nat.* (Vél. 578).

125. Roman de la Rose. [1496?] fol.

Collation : 150 unnumbered leaves, sig. a-s₈, t₆. Printed in double columns, 40 and 41 lines to a full column.

Illustrations : On [p₁ a] No. 22, on [t₆ b] No. 24. A set of small German cuts, and small cuts apparently from a Horæ, though probably not one of Vèrard's. On title L, No. 4.

Type : No. 11.

Copy known : Bib. Nat.* (Rés. A. 1247).

144. Monstrelet. Chroniques. fol.

[Vol. 1.] Collation : 10 unnumbered leaves, sig. ā, followed by 304 leaves (numbered 1-302, with repetition of Nos. 44 and 45), sig. aa-oo₈, except ff₁₀, nn₆. Printed in double columns. Two types are used, a column of the larger being formed by 44 lines, of the smaller, 47 lines. With the larger type are printed the preliminary leaves, and ff. 33-48, 163. Both these types are used in the Merlin of 1498. Fol. 164 (presumably blank) is missing in the British Museum copy.

No. 25 (coloured) on fol. 163 verso. An illumination on a blank leaf inserted after the unnumbered leaves, in vol. 2.

Copies known : Brit. Mus. (C. 22. d. 6-8), Bib. Nat., Maz., Chantilly.

Note : The fact that vol. 3 begins at p. 133 seems to show that Vêrard published an edition in the 47-line type, in which vol. 2 had 132 leaves. No such edition is known.

145. Ovid. Epistres. 8°.

Collation : 128 leaves without pagination, sig. a-q_s. 36 lines to a full page.

Description : [a₁ a.] Les XXI. epistres douide / translatees de latin en francoys/ Par reuerend pere en dieu mō/seigneur leuesque dangoules-/me. Type : No. 11.

Copies known : Bib. Nat.* (Rcs. 219), Maz.*

Note : The space in the colophon seems to point to an uncertainty about the address.

147. Psaultier Notre Dame. 4°.

Collation : 112 unnumbered leaves, sig. a₈, b-r₆, s₈. 34 lines to a full page.

Description : [a₁ a.] Le psaultier nre dame / Selon saint ierosme : / Translate de latin en francois.// [s₇ b.] Cy fine le psaultier nostre dame / translate de latin en frâcoys Impri/me a paris pour anthoine verard / marchant libraire demourant a pa/ris en la rue sainct iacques pres pe-/tit pont. Illustrations : On the title-page, cut of Sanctus Gregorius, facing full, reading. On [a₂ a] *Sanctus iberonim*⁹, with crozier, wearing hat. Very curious series of cuts, each one containing one of two representations of St. Jerome kneeling, with an attendant lion, together with some other re-used cuts (some from the Horæ). A few small 'black' initials.

Type : No. 1.

Copy known : Bib. Nat.* (B. 1656), *Ars. (T. 3026), Versailles.

Note : The Arsenal copy has a note stating that it was given by Vêrard to the monastery of Clervaulx, March 20, 1511. The copy at Versailles has a portrait of St. Gregory beneath the title (photograph seen).

148. Quinte Curse de la vie . . . d'Alexandre le Grand. fol.

Illustrations : The book is copiously illustrated with cuts of every description from Vérard's stock. Besides the re-used cuts there is a quantity of fresh cuts of unmistakably German origin, e.g. No. 37 on [a₂ b]. There are a few other cuts, apparently new to Vérard books, but not of characteristic style. Among the re-used cuts are [in vol. 1] on [a b] No. 7, on [a₁ b] No. 43, on [k₁ a] No. 32, side by side with another cut of totally different style, within worn-out borders; on [r₂ a] No. 9, on [oo₂ b] No. 24; [in vol. 2] on the last preliminary leaf, the ornamental P from the Mer des Hystoires, on [C₁ a] No. 26 [re-cut?], on [AA₁ a] No. 39; on [HH₆ b] No. 42; on [NN₃ a] a small cut from the Terence (No. 152), with the legend altered to "Paulus"; on [QQ₁ b] a cut from the Cité de Dieu printed at Abbeville in 1486. Initials of all varieties, except the 'grotesque.'

Illustrations : On title-page, L No. 9; on verso of title, a cut, greatly reduced in size, first occurring in the Art de bien Mourir of 1492. The book is further illustrated by a large number of full-page cuts, imitated from the Biblia Pauperum, and divided into compartments, some of which are occupied with text printed in smaller type. This series does not seem to be elsewhere used by Vérard.

Types: Nos. 11, 12. (Type 11 is only used for the legends on the blank spaces in the cuts.)

Copy known: Brit. Mus. (C. 22. b. 10, on vellum).

Note: The La Vallière copy had a MS. note running: Anthoine Verard libraire de Paris a donne ce pñt liure au monastere de Cleruault le xx^e de mars mil v^e et ôze. Priez Dieu por luy.

164. Gestes Romaines. [1508?] fol.

Illustrations: To a very great extent taken from Vêrard's early romances of chivalry: e.g. [f₆ b] No. 33, [h₁ a] No. 12, [i₃ a] No. 34, [o₁ b] No. 27, [p₁ b] No. 15, [z₃ b] No. 30. On [o₄ a] and [o₅ b] are cuts (representing the sack and siege of a town) taken from the Abbeville Cité de Dieu of 1486, and on [B₆ b] is a full-page cut, apparently by the same artist, but not to be found in the Cité de Dieu: on [ā₂ a] is No. 11: on the title-page is L No. 9, and throughout are 'grotesque' and 'black' initials.

Type: No. 12.

Copy known: Brit. Mus. (588. k. 10).

165. Jardin de plaisance. [1504?]

Collation: 268 leaves (the last missing in copy seen, and doubtless blank), sig. a-z₆, z₆, aa-ss₆, tt-vv₈, sig. k-tt numbered, with errors, 55-248. Printed in double column, 49 lines to a full column of verse.

Illustrations: A few cuts: on [ā₂ a] No. 45; two cuts from the Abbeville Cité de Dieu of 1486; the first, on [m₅ a], being No. 42. On [s₃ b] is a remarkable collection of four small cuts, by at least three different artists, furnished with a border with each side different from all the others, and fixed askew. They have at least the merit of fidelity to the text, two representing idolatry and two martyrdom. 'Floral' and 'bossed' initials, and a few 'grotesque,' among them the initial L of the title-page.

Copy known: Brit. Mus. (364. aa. 2).

168. Livre du S. Sacrement de l'autel. [By Raoul de Montfiquet.] [1506?] 4°.

Collation: 92 leaves without pagination, sig. a-o₆, p₈ (last blank). 28 lines to a full page.

Illustrations : Up to sig. ss, these consist of a set of blocks depicting the ravages of the "Grand Loup ravissant," with two other unimportant cuts not elsewhere seen. After sig. ss occur a remarkable set of cuts, in a very heavy style, which gives them the appearance of pen-and-ink drawings done with a broad pen. These represent the ravages of Death. They appear to be from the same hand as the folio cut of "Le Theatre" in the Terence (No. 152). Throughout the book are 'grotesque' and 'floral' initials.

Type : No. 1.

Copy known : Brit. Mus. (C. 34. g.), Bib. Nat.* (Vél. 2258).

Illustrations: Nearly the same as in the edition printed in 1488 for Vincent Commin by G. Lerouge. On the title-page of each volume is a fine L, and there occur several times an equally fine elaborate P, J, and S. Throughout are numerous cuts, which have nearly all appeared before in Vérard's books, and are first noticed in Commin's edition: [Vol. 1.] On [a₃ a] No. 8, on [f₂ a] No. 6, on [g₄ a] No. 12, on [p₇ b] No. 22, on [y₆ a] No. 9, on [hh₇ b] No. 7. [Vol. 2.] On [B₆ b] No. 16; and, passim, cuts from the Horæ, and a few remarkable cuts with a black background.

Description: [A₁ a.] Les prophecies / de merlin.//

Illustrations: On the title-page of each part, L No. 4. The illustrations in the British Museum copy are covered with illuminations totally different from them in subject: the initials also are illuminated. The same two types are used as in the other edition bearing the date 1498; but the second (No. 3) has a different capital Q, and is used much more extensively, i.e. in all the preliminary leaves, in ff. 73-172 of vol. 2, and ff. 37-152 of vol. 3. This edition agrees page for page with the other; but even where the same type is used, it is evident that every page has been set up afresh.

Types: Nos. 3, 7.

Copies known: Brit. Mus. (C. 22. c. 6-8, on vellum, imperfect), Chantilly.

Illustrations: On the title-page of each volume is L No. 9: throughout are 'floral' and small 'black' initials.

Type: No. 11.

Copies known: Brit. Mus. (C. 22. f. 13-15), Bib. Nat. (Vél. 751-3).

Note: This edition is set up, page for page, from the earlier edition. In it there is the same gap between pp. 44 and 45, which here (at least in the British Museum copy) has not been remedied, as in the earlier edition, by the insertion of additional leaves. Here, as in the earlier edition, fol. 164 of vol. 1 has been cut out, but its absence does not cause a gap in the text.

These two editions must evidently have been printed in rapid succession, and it seems desirable to assign this to the earliest possible date, namely, July-December, 1503, the year in which Vêrard arrived at his new address,

"devant la rue neufue nostre dame," and the earlier edition to the earlier part of the same year, which Vêrard spent "pres petit Pont."

177. Nef de Sante. [By Nicolas de la Chesnaye.] [1508.] 4°.

Illustrations: This book is probably illustrated from a greater number of sources than any other of Vérard's. First there are an old set of small cuts in a characteristic style, and mostly with architectural borders, e.g. on [f₆ b] No. 40. Then there are a few cuts from the Art de bien viure & de bien mourir, e.g. on [f₃ a] No. 18; and two others on [m₁ a] and [m₆ b], and others equally familiar, e.g. on [h₃ a] No. 17, on [h₄ a] No. 21. There are also a few impressions, from metal plates, having black backgrounds, e.g. on [i₃ b]. On [g₃ a] is a cut of a shepherd taking observations from the stars, imitated from one in the Calendrier des Bergers, printed by Guy Marchand, 1493. The original is reproduced by M. Monceaux (op. cit., i., 145). On [a₂ a] is a cut in the 'heavy' style (No. 45). Only a few of the cuts specially made for the earlier edition, and representing the "regnars," have been left in. There are no cuts after sig. m, and very few of the 'grotesque' and 'calligraphic' initials with which the earlier part of the book is adorned. On the title-page is L No. 9.

Copies known: Brit. Mus. (11475. gg. 5), Dijon.

183. Renoncement d'amours. [By — Blosset.] [1509?] 4°.

Delisle in vol. of the Mémoires de la Société de l'Histoire de Paris, etc., entitled Documents parisiens de la Bibliothèque de Berne.

Note: The date appears unmistakably from the author's dedication addressed to Louis of Luxemburg, where he speaks of the marvellous events of the past year. He also says that the book was "communiqué à Anthoine Vérard, libraire à Paris, lequel l'a bien voulu mettre sur ses formes impressoires et le publier par tout."

Illustrations : Those of the Petites Heures (with one additional, representing David on horseback), with new and wide borders.

Type : No. 2.

Copy known : Bib. Nat.* (R_{és}. B. 2941).

Note : The almanack is for the years 1488-1508.

203. Horæ. [1490?] 4°. [Use of Rome. Not in Brunet.]

Collation : Apparently a perfect copy should consist of 102 leaves, being 8 leaves [signature unknown] followed by 94 leaves, sig. [by sheets] a-l₈, m₆. 27 lines to a full page.

Description : [Fol. 1 a, beneath a cut of the Graal.] Loraizon / [B]enedictio dei patris cū āgelis suis sit su/perme . amen, etc. [m₆ a.] Explicit. [O]mnipotens sempiterne deus.// [m₆ b.] [Device.]

Illustrations : On [fol. 1 a] Graal; [fol. 2 b] Anatomical Figure; [b₆ b] Angelus ad Pastores; [c₃ a] Circumcision; [c₅ a] Massacre of Innocents; [m₃ a] Constantine and the Cross: the last four from the Petites Heures. The borders are to a great extent identical with those in No. 200; but those exhibiting birds and rabbits, among tree-trunks and flowers, are entirely absent.

Type of Jean Dupré.

*Copy known : (imperfect) in the library of Monsieur J. Masson at Amiens.

204. Horæ. [1490?] 4°. ["Grandes Heures."]

Collation : 116 unnumbered leaves, sig. a-b₈, a-g₈, h₆, i-m₈, p₆. 29 lines to a full page.

Description : [Fol. 1 a.] Jesus soit en ma teste z mon entendement / Jesus soit en mes yeulx z mon regardemēt./, etc. [Below:] A la louenge de dieu de sa tressaincte z / glorieuse mere, et a ledificacion de tous bōs / catholiques furent commencees cespresētes / heures par le commandement du roy nostre / sire pour Anthoine verard libraire demourāt / aparis sur le pont nostre dāe a lymage saint / iehan leuangeliste . ou au palais au premier / pilier, etc.// [m₈ b.] [Device.] En la parfin de leure louer dieu/, etc. [p₁ a.] [D]omine / ne in fu/rore tuo, etc. [p₆ b.] End. car ie suis ton serf.

Illustrations : The same as those in No. 206, differently arranged.

Copy known : Brit. Mus. (C. 35. h. 21).

Note : The almanack is for the years 1488-1508.

205. Horæ. [1490?] 4°. ["Grandes Heures."]

Collation : 116 unnumbered leaves, sig. [according to Brunet] a₈, b₈, a-m₈, p₄, [according to the Catalogue raisonné of Firmin Didot] a₈, b₈, a-m₈, n₄. 20 lines [according to Brunet] to a full page.

Description : As No. 204, except that the ending "car je suis ton scrif" occurs on [p₄ b] or [n₄ b].

Copy known : Library of A. Firmin Didot [No. 798 in his Catalogue raisonné].

Note : From Brunet and Firmin Didot it is evident that this edition, which both describe from the copy in the latter's library, is a slight variant on the preceding. The discrepancy in the collation is inexplicable. 20, given as the number of lines in a page by Brunet (Firmin Didot says nothing on this point), must be a misprint for 29.

206. Horæ. [1490?] 4°. ["Grandes Heures."]

Collation : 168 unnumbered leaves, sig. [by sheets] A₆, B₈, a₈, b₈, c₈, d₁₀, e₈, f₁₀, ā₈, ē₄, p₈, p̄₄, A-C₈, A-F₈, G₆. 29 lines to a full page.

Description : [Fol. 1 a.] Jesus soit en ma teste ⁊ mon entendement./ Jesus soit en mes yeulx et mon regardemēt/, etc. [Below:] A la louenge de dieu de sa tressaincte et/ glorieuse mere, et a ledificacion de tous bōs/ catholiques furent commencees ces presen-/tes heures par le cōmandemēt du roy nostre/ sire p[our] āthoyne verard libraire demourāt a/ paris sur le pont nostre dame a lymage saint/ iehan leuangeliste ou au palays au premier/ pilier deuant la chapelle, etc.// [Fol. 170 b.] [Device.] En la parfin de loeuure louer dieu./ Chacū de nous doit pour auoir sa grace, etc.

Copy known : Brit. Mus. (C. 41. e. 3, on vellum).¹

Note : The almanack is for the years 1488-1508. The last three letters of the word pour in the colophon have been erased.

207. Horæ. [1490?] 4°. ["Grandes Heures."]

Note : A book described in the catalogue of the library of Baron James de Rothschild (No. 22), appears to differ from the preceding only in one portion, of which the signatures run p̄₈, p̄ A₆ instead of p̄ A₈.

208. Horæ. [1490?] 4°. ["Grandes Heures," use of Poitiers. Brunet, 119?]

Collation: 164 unnumbered leaves, sig. [by sheets] A₆, B₈, AA-FF₈, ā₈, ē₄, p₈, p̃₄, A-C₈, A-F₈, G₆. 29 lines to a full page.

Illustrations : The cut of the author kneeling (Monceaux, i. 210), the Anatomical Figure, and the Creation of Eve, from the Petites Heures, also a cut of the Graal with background of fleur-de-lys, much resembling the corresponding cut in the same Heures. The other cuts are imitated from Pigouchet, which affords an indication of the date. Border of small cuts interspersed with texts.

Types : Nos. 1, 2A, 4 of Etienne Jehannot.

Copy known : *Bib. Nat. (Vél. 1631).

216. Horæ. [1497?] 4°.

A book of Hours at the Bodleian (Douce, BB. 121) differs only from the preceding in that after sig. N₈ there follows a sheet of eight leaves, sig. O, containing the Seven Penitential Psalms. ([O₁ a.] Sensuiuent les sept

Illustrations : Not discernible beneath the illuminations, which represent, on [a₅ a] St. John writing his Gospel; [a₈ b] The Tree of Jesse; [b₁ a] Annunciation; [d₆ b] Visitation of Mary; [c₃ b] Mary and Joseph worshipping the Infant Jesus; [c₆ a] Annunciation to the Shepherds; [c₈ a] Adoration of the Magi; [d₃ a] Presentation in the Temple; [d₅ a] Flight into Egypt; [e₁ a] Coronation of the Virgin; [f₂ a] Death of Goliath; [g₃ b] Job; [i₆ a] Crucifixion; [i₃ a] Pentecost; [k₈ a] Trinity; [l₈ a] Christ on Mount Olivet. No borders.

Type: No. 13, in black and red.

Copy known: *Arsénal (Théol. 2948, on vellum).

221. Horæ. 1498, 22 Oct. 4°. [Use of Rome. Brunet, 129.]

Note: The library of Baron James de Rothschild appears to contain a tirage of the preceding, also without borders. The illuminations in this represent the same subjects as those in the preceding, except that the "Death of Goliath" on [f₂ a] is replaced by a "Pénitence de David." See No. 17 in M. Emile Picot's catalogue of this library. Apparently the copy described in the catalogue of the Besançon Public Library (No. 549) is another copy of this tirage.

222. Horæ. [1498?] 4°.

Collation: 108 unnumbered leaves, sig. a₆, b₈, a-g₈, h₁₂, i₈, k-l₆, m₈. 29 lines to a full page.

Description: [a₁ a.] Jesus soit en ma teste et mon entendement/, etc. [Below:] A la louenge de dieu de sa tressaincte z / glorieuse mere, et a ledification de tous bōs / catholiques furent commencees ces presētes / heures par le commandement du roy nostre / sire pour Anthoine verard libraire demourāt / a paris sur le pont nostre dāe a lymage saint / iehan leuangeliste. ou au palais au premier / pilier, etc. [m₈ b.] [Device.] En la parfin de leure louer dieu. . . Pour nos meffaiz nous dirons tous Amen.

Copies known: Bib. Nat.* (Vél. 918, imperfect, wanting sigs. c₇, m₁, B. 1891).

Note: The vellum copy contains on [a₁ b] a cut of the compiler kneeling (see Monceaux, op. cit. i. 210), which is not in the paper copy. Almanack for 1488-1508.

223. Horæ. 1500, 2 May. [Brunet, 130.]

Note: Described as existing in the "Biblioth. Gareli à Vienne."

224. Horæ. 1500, 14 Aug. [Use of Orleans. Brunet, 131.]

Collation: 92 unnumbered leaves, sig. a-h₈, aa-dd₈, except b, four leaves. 32 lines to a full page. Sigs. c-h, printed for the Orleans use, have the signature-heading OR.

Description: [a₁ a.] Benedictio dei patris cum angelis suis / sit sup me amen. Benedictio iesu xpi / etc. [b₄ b.] Hore diue virginis Marie secundum / vsum [] [dd₈ b.] [Device.] Ces p̄sentes heures a lusaige Illustrations : Large cuts, same as Horæ of 20 April, 1503, except Anatomical Figure and Martyrdom of S. John. (See Chart at end.) No borders, but a few small cuts in text.

Types of F. Baligault.

Copies known : Brit. Mus. (C. 29. g. 1, on vellum), Bodl.* (Auct. T. infra III. 11).

Note : This is evidently the same edition as that described by Brunet under No. 131; the confusion between 8 and 13 (viii and xiii) being easy of occurrence. This edition was reprinted after Vêrard removed to the Rue Neuve Notre Dame, but the date in the colophon remained unchanged. For this reprint see No. 253.

225. Horæ (Paris). 1500, 22 Oct. 8°. [Use of Paris. Brunet, 132.]

Collation : 8 unnumbered leaves without signatures, followed by 126 unnumbered leaves, sig. Bb₁₀, a-h₅, i-k₁₀, A-D₈.

Description : [Fol. 1 a, beneath a cut of the Graal.:] Benediçtio dei patris, etc. [Bb₁₀ b, beneath a cut of the Tree of Jesse.:] Hore intemerate virginis marie secun/dum usum .// [D₈ a.] Ces presentes heures a lu/sage de Paris furent ache/uees le .xxii. iour doçtobre Lan MCCCCC.

Illustrations "as in an edition of 1503" which bears Vêrard's device.

Note : Almanack for 1497-1520. The attribution of this edition to Vêrard is conjectural, but from M. Firmin Didot's description (Catalogue raisonné, No. 803) almost certain.

226. Horæ. 1502, 18 Aug. 8°. [Not in Brunet.]

Collation : 96 unnumbered leaves, sig. a₅, b₃, bb₃, c-h₅, aa-dd₅. 32 lines to a full page.

Description : [a₁ a.] [Cut of Graal.] [B]enediçtio dei patris cū angelis suis sit / super me amen, etc. [dd₅ b.] [Device.] Ces p̃sentes heures a lusaige de [] / furēt acheuees le .xviii. iour de aoust mil cinq / cēs 2 deux. Copies known : Besançon Public Library, and another* in private hands, both on vellum.

227. Horæ. 1503, 20 April. 8°. [Use of Rome?]

Collation : 126 unnumbered leaves, sig. a₈, b₁₀, a-i₈, k₄, A-D₈. 22 lines to a full page. Fol. 1 is marked P [= Paris], and sigs. A, B, have the additional signature R [= Rome]. This would therefore appear to be a made-up copy.

Description : [a₁ a.] Benedictio dei patris cū angelis suis sit / super me amē. Bñdictio iesu xpī cū an/gelis suis, etc. [D₈ a.] Ces presentes heures a lu-/sage de [] furent ache-/uees le .xx. iour dauril. Lan / mil cinq cens et trois.//

Copy known : Brit. Mus. (C. 41. b. 2, on vellum).

Note : Almanack for 1497-1520. On fol. 18, the last word, all but the letter R, is written over an erasure, and the word Romme is written in the blank space on [D₈ a].

228. Horæ. 1503, 19 June. 4°. [Brunet, 135.]

Collation : [92 ?] leaves, sig. a-l₈, m₄.

Description : [] Heures a lusaige de Rōme sans riēs reŕrir. [] Imprimees a Paris le xix iour du mois de / Juing Mil cinq cens et trois.

Illustrations : "The large cuts, to the number of 15 (not including that of the Holy Grail, which is on f. 2 b), and the small subjects in the borders, are evidently imitated from Vostre's editions, and are almost as well executed. Those of the Dance of Death begin on h₁ b and finish on i₇ b. These same cuts also appear in the edition of the Horæ beate Marie Virginis secundū usum Romanum, sine require, which bears Vêrard's device and has an almanack for 1503-1520." (Catalogue raisonné of Firmin Didot.)

229. Horæ. 1503. 4°. [Salisbury.] [Brunet, 134. Quoted from Panzer, vii. 504.]

230. Horæ. 1504, 25 Sept. 8°. [Use of Paris. Brunet, 138.]

Collation : 92 leaves (the first missing), sig. a₈, b₁, c-h₈, aa-dd₈. 32 lines to a full page. Sheets c-h have the additional signature P, as they form the part specially belonging to the Paris use.

Description : [a₂ a.] [Cut of Anatomical Man, with borders.]

Illustrations in conformity with the position which the date of this edition would give it in the Chart. Only the large cuts have borders.

Copy known : Bib. Nat.* (B. 2569).

Note : The edition next following differs only in the special portion from this edition, as far as can be seen. It may therefore be assumed that the two had identical title-pages.

231. Horæ. 1504, 25 Sept. 8°. [Use of Bourges. Not in Brunet.]

Collation : 90 leaves, sig. a₈, b₄, c-g₈, h₆. 32 lines to a full page. Sheets c-h have the additional signature Bo, as they form the part specially belonging to the use of Bourges.

Description : [a₁ a.] [Cut of Graal.] [B]enedictio dei patris cū angelis suis sit / super me, etc. [a₂ a and b, and dd₈ b, as in the preceding edition.]

Illustrations and Type as in the preceding edition.

Copy known : Arsénal (T. 2960, on vellum).

Note : The word Bo⁹ges is added in MS. in the colophon.

232. Horæ. [1505 ?] 4°. [Use of Salisbury. Not in Brunet.]

Collation : 170 unnumbered leaves, sig. a₁₀, b-x₈. 25 lines to a full page. The British Museum copy is imperfect, wanting sig. a₁₄.

Illustrations: 17 large cuts: no borders. The cuts, except that of the Annunciation, are found in the edition, for Roman use, of 1510.

Copy known: Formerly in the Firmin-Didot collection.

Note: Almanack for 1503-20. M. Didot, in his Catalogue raisonné, gives the date as 13 October (xiii instead of viii).

243. Horæ. 1508, Nov. 10. 8°. [Brunet, 145.]

Collation: 90 unnumbered leaves, sig. a₃, b₄, b₈, c₈, d₆, e₄, f-g₈, i₄, aa-dd₈. 32 lines to a full page.

251. Horæ. [1511.] 8°. [Use of Rome.]

Collation : 100 unnumbered leaves, sig. q_{ts}, aa₈, c-i₈, A-B₈, C₄, ā₈. 28 lines to a full page.

Description : [q₁₁ a.] Hore beate marie virginis scd'm / vsum Romanū sine require.// [Above this is the device, in an architectural frame.] [ā₈ b.]

End. miserrimo peccatori. Pater noster. Aue marie./ FINIS.//

Copy known : Brit. Mus. (C. 41. d. 2, on vellum).

Note : Almanack for the years 1503-20.

252. Horæ. [1513 . . . ?] 8°. [Use of Paris. Brunet, 150.]

Description : [Fol. 1.] Ces presentes heures ont este nouvellement imprimees a paris pour guillaume Godard libraire. [End.] Ces presentes heures ont este acheuees nouvellement pour Anthoyne verard libraire demourant a Paris a lymaige sainct Iehan deuāt la rue neufue nostre dame, ou au Palais, etc.

Note : The Almanack begins with 1513, according to Van Praet, whence the above description is taken (i. 118). According to that writer there were copies in the Library of the Oratory at Paris and in the Harley Library, and he gives a precise reference to the catalogue of the latter, where the book in question appears thus (Bibl. Harl., IV. 786, No. 18391) : "Heures à l'usage de, &c. Paris. The Almanack in the third page informs us that this Book was printed in the year 1523." The Oratory copy was, however, doubtless correctly described by Van Praet.

253. Horæ. "14 Aug. 1500." [After 1503.] [Use of Tours.]

Collation : 92 unnumbered leaves. sig. a-h₈, aa-dd₈, except b, four leaves. 32 lines to a full page. Sigs. c-h, printed for the use of Tours, have the signature-heading To.

Description : [a₁ a.] Benediçtio dei patris cum āgelis suis / sit supe me amen. Bñdiçtio iesu xpī/, etc. [b₁ b.] Hore diue virginis Marie secundum / vsum [turonansis] [dd₈ b.] [Device.] Ces p̄sentes heures a l'usage de [] / furent acheuees le .xiiii. iour daoust mil cinq / cens Pour Anthoine verard libraire demou- / rāt a Paris deuant la rue neufue nostre dame / a lymage saint / Iehan. ou au palais deuant la chapelle, etc.//

Copy known : Bodl.* (Auçt. T. infra III. 11).

Note : This agrees very closely with No. 224, printed for the use of Orleans. By accident, apparently, the date has not been altered to correspond with the change of address. The word Turonansis is in MS.

BOOKS OF WHICH EITHER THE EXISTENCE
OR CONNECTION WITH VÉRARD IS DOUBTFUL.

254. Aiguillon d'amour divine. [By St. Bernard.] 1507.

Note: Mentioned by Panzer: not known.

255. L'Aiguillon de crainte divine pour bien mourir. Cousteau & Menard pour Verard. 1491, 18 July.

Note: This is Hain 6553: the date is probably an error for 1492.

256. Aristotle. Le liure de politicques d'Aristote avec les gloses par Nicolas Oresme. 1486. fol.

Note: This is Hain 1770. There is no such edition, Mademoiselle Pellechet informs the present compiler, in any public library in France. It is not in the Imperial Library at Vienna.

257. Breydenbach. Le chemin et voyage de la Terre-Sainte, translates en françois. [n.d.] 4°.

Note: See Les Bibliothèques françaises de La Croix du Maine et de Du Verdier (ed. Rigoley de Juvigny), tom. iii., p. 224.

258. Bible en françois. [1498 ?] fol.

Collation: 168 numbered leaves, sig. a-z₆ (except d, f-g, i, l, m, o, p, r, s, v, y, sixes), followed by 4 unnumbered leaves, sig. A: z₆ is missing. Printed in double columns, 34 and 35 lines to a full column.

Description : Begin. [Fol. 2.] Cy cōmence la bible en frācois./ Et premieremēt / Cōment dieu crea le ciel z la terre/, etc. End. Cy finit la table de ce p̄sent / liure intitule la bible / en frācoys Impri/mee a paris.//

Illustrations : The first leaf bears on its verso (recto blank) a fine full-page cut of the Deity and the Four Evangelists. On [z₆ b] another cut by same artist, representing the Crucifixion. 'Black' initials.

Type : No. 7.

Copy known : Bib. Nat.* (A. 275).

Note : No direct indication of Vêrard, whose mark may have been on z₆.

259. Cæsar. Commentaires. 1485. fol.

Collation : 114 unnumbered leaves (the last blank), sig. a-n₃, o₆, p₄. Printed in double columns, 36 lines to a full column.

Description : [a₁ a.] Les commentaires / de iules cesar.// [a₂ a.] A tres-christien et tresexcellent pri-/ce . Illustrations : On [a₂ a] cut 1 a ; also a set of oblong cuts, e.g. on [f₆ a] No. 3, on [n₂ b] No. 4. On title-page a capital L.

Copies known : Bib. Nat.* (Rés. J. 273), St. Gén.*, Maz.

260. Danse macabre. [1500?] fol.

Collation : 12 unnumbered leaves, sig. a₆, b₆. Printed in double columns, 37 lines to a full column.

Description : [a₁ a.] [O] creature raisonnable.

Illustrations : Nineteen in number. For reproductions see Monceaux (op. cit., i. 180).

Types : Nos. 3, 4.

Copies known : Bib. Nat.* (Vél. 579), Archiepiscopal Library, Lambeth.

Note : There seems no adequate reason for the early date assigned by M. Monceaux to this edition. The deletion of the colophon certainly points to Vêrard, but there is no direct proof of connection with him.

261. Doctrine moult belle et notable a tous ceulx qui sont en aucunes tribulations compile par un notable docteur de lordre des freres prescheurs, a la supplication dune jeune dame fille dun noble cheualier. A. Vérard: Paris. [n.d.] 8°.

Note: Quoted by Brunet from the Gaignat catalogue (No. 404).

262. Enseignemens Moraulx. [1490 ?] 4°.

Collation: 22 leaves, sig. a₈, b₆, c₆.

Description: [a₁ a.] Les enseignemens moraulx / et les concilles des deuotz.//

[c₆ b.] End. Nous soyent a la mort deliurance

De la peine qui tousiours dure. Amen.//

Copy known: Bib. Nat.* (Vél. 1736).

Note: This copy has no indication of being printed for Vérard, except that the type is his No. 3. There are several illuminations, apparently covering cuts. On the title-page are blank impressions of two devices, quite undistinguishable. In the La Vallière catalogue (No. 769) a copy on paper is described as having Vérard's device on the last leaf, and four additional leaves, printed with smaller type, containing "ix petites reigles pour cognoistre peche mortel . . . extraictes par frere lucas de Zagis."

263. Fontaine des Amoureux. [1506 ?]

Collation: 64 unnumbered leaves, sig. a-c₆, d₄, e-l₆. 27 lines to a full page.

Description: [a₁ a.] La / Fontaine des amoureux.// [l₆ a.] End. Sy peu que cest, au moins ioyeusement. Finis.

Illustrations: On title L No. 7; on verso of title, cut No. 8: throughout various figures from the Terence (No. 152).

Copy known: Brit. Mus. (C. 34. g. 6 (2)).

Note: This book bears no direct evidence of connection with Vérard; but the type is the same as that of the Amoureux transy (No. 154), and the cuts, including the L on the title, all appear in Vérard's books. The last leaf bears a portion of a set-off from Vérard's L No. 7.

264. Grant Vita Christi. [By Ludolphus de Saxonia.]

Note: (1) No. 998 of the Incunabula at the Bibliothèque Ste. Geneviève is almost certainly unconnected with Vérard, though it has his L No. 7 on the title, and a few cuts also to be found in the Postilles of 1511 [No. 99].

The initials, however, are not Vérard's, and every page and column is surrounded by a line, which feature is nowhere else seen in Vérard books. Moreover, some of the cuts seem of a date subsequent to Vérard's death.

(2) Hain 10298 is probably identical with No. 138.

265. Jardin de vertueuse Consolation. [1506 ?] 4°.

Collation : 12 unnumbered leaves (the last missing ?), sig. a-b₆. 29 lines to a full page.

Description : [a₁ a.] Le iar/din / de vertueuse consolation.// [b₆ b.] Aymons pour luy toute beaulte cree . sans vi-/lanie ne ordure. Amen.//

Illustrations : On title-page L No. 7; on verso a cut, covered by illumination.

Types : Those of the Contemplations S. Augustin (No. 161) and the Temptations de l'Ennemy (No. 190).

Copy known : Bib. Nat.* (Vél. 1759).

266. Le Jouvenel. 1497.

Note : Brunet and Hain (No. 9463) mention this edition, which has no existence. The mistake probably arose from a peculiarity of the vellum copy of the 1493 edition in the Hofbibliothek at Vienna. In this, writes Dr. Göldlin von Tiefenau, custos of that library, the word treize in the colophon has been erased and xvii, the year of the illuminator's task, inserted instead.

267. Livy. Première(-tierce) décade 1486, etc. fol.

Note : These volumes, ascribed to Vérard by Hain and the Mazarine catalogue, and printed "en la grant Rue saint Jacques," do not appear to be connected with him.

268. Louenge des roys de France. [After 1503.] 8°.

Collation : 56 leaves, sig. a-g₈. 29 lines to a full page.

Description : [a₁ a.] La louenge des / roys de france./ [g₈ b.] Qui ont este fais par cy deuant/

Illustrations : On title-page L No. 10: on [a₂ a] cut No. 5. 'Floral' initials.

Type : No. 1 ?

Note : The above is a description of an imperfect copy* belonging to Monsieur J. Masson of Amiens.

269. Miroir des Pêcheurs et pecheresses. [By Jean de Castel.]
[1507 ?] 4°.

Collation : 60 unnumbered leaves, sig. a-k₆. 28 lines to a full page of prose.

Description : [a₁ a.] Le / mirouer des pecheurs et pecheresses// [k₆ b.] Est deus illa dies, vltima nostra quies./ Benedictus deus./

Illustrations : On title-page, L No. 8. A few cuts, mostly re-used, e.g. on [d₁ b] No. 7, and on [g₆ b] one from the Terence (No. 152).

Types : Nos. 3, 13.

Copy known : Brit. Mus. (C. 22. a. 8, on vellum).

Note : According to Brunet, this book was printed for Vérard about 1495, but it closely resembles a set (Nos. 76, 81, etc.) of the same type and format as this, and having L No. 8 on the title-page, which appeared about 1506. There is no direct indication of Vérard, who must however have supplied the British Museum copy to Henry VII. of England.

270. Mystere de l'Incarnation. s.l.n.d.

Note : Quoted by Brunet from the Daunou catalogue.

271. La Nef de Sante. [By Nicolas de la Chesnaye.] 1511. 4°.

Note : Mentioned by Panzer.

272. Ordinaire des Chretiens. [1497 ?] fol.

Collation : 144 unnumbered leaves, sig. a₁, b-f₈, g₆, h₈, k-n₆, o₄, p₆, q₈, r₆, s₈, t-z₆. 36 lines to a full page.

Description : [a₁ a.] Lordinaire des crestiens. [z₆ b.] Cy finist lordinayre des crestiens/ Imprime a paris.//

Illustrations : On the title-page a grotesque capital L, not elsewhere seen : on the verso of the title-leaf, cut No. 31. 'Black' initials.

Types : Nos. 3, 4, and a large type on title-page.

Copy known : Maz.* (Inc. 233).

Note : There is no direct evidence that Vérard was connected with the publication of this book ; but the types, illustrations, and initials (except the L on the title-page) are his.

273. Ordonnances de la Prévôté. 1500 [1501], Jan.

Description : [a₁ a.] Le present li-/ure fait men-/cion des ordōnances de la preuoste des mar/chans et escheuinaige de la ville de Paris./ Imprime par lordonnāce de messeigneurs / de la court de parlement . ou moys de Jan-/uier. volume in/titule des faiz z ordō/nances de la preuoste des marchans et escheuinaige de la /ville de Paris imprime par lordonnance que dessus.

Illustrations : On title, Vérard's L No. 8 : on last leaf a large L not used by him, adorned with a bird, a monkey, and a female figure. On the verso of the title a cut representing the "Preuot et escheuins" (le receveur, le greffe, etc.). Throughout the book spirited small cuts representing various occupations. Numerous large calligraphic and grotesque initials, not Vérard's.

Types : Vérard's No. 7, apparently, and two large types not his.

Copy known : Maz.* (Inc. 1079).

274. Ovid. Epistres d'Ovide.

Note : In the library of Monsieur J. Masson at Amiens are two imperfect tirages of an edition of this work, differing only in the title-page, which in one case has two cuts from the Terence of 1500[?] below the title, in the other a portion of ornamental border. The more perfect of the two copies has signatures, a-s₃ : there are 30 lines to a full page, and type No. 2 is used. This edition may possibly have been printed for Vérard.

275. Pas des armes de Sandricourt. [1493 ?] fol.

Collation : 14 unnumbered leaves, sig. a₆, b₃ (last blank). 37-40 lines to a full page.

Description : [a₁ a.] Le pas des armes de Sandricourt.// [b₇ b] Explicit. monstrar le bon z hault vouloir qui doit estre loge au cueur de noblesse.//

Illustrations : On title, L No. 4 : numerous illuminations, possibly covering cuts.

Types : Nos. 11, 13.

Copy known : Bib. Nat.* (Vél. 1033-4).

Note : There is no direct evidence of connection with Vérard ; but it is most likely that he would be selected to produce so sumptuous and courtly a book.

276. Postilles et expositions des épîtres et des évangiles.
[1500 ?] fol.

Collation [of a very imperfect copy] : sig. B-C₆ [numbered 9-23], i-o₃, p₆, q-s₃, t₆ [numbered 65-153]. Printed in double columns, 40 lines to a full column.

Description : [B₁ a.] Begin. desprise toutes choses ainsi que dit saint / gregoire, etc. [t₆ b.] End. tous ses biēs En recepuāt son sāg no⁹ sō-¹, etc.

Illustrations : Mostly relevant to the text. Some are from Vérard's books of chivalry, e.g. on [l₈ a] No. 22. Small 'black' initials.

Type : No. 11.

Copy known : Brit. Mus. (C. 22. c. 13, on vellum).

277. Les propheties de Merlin. 1497.

Note : Mentioned only by Firmin Didot in his Essai sur l'histoire de la Gravure. Doubtless an error for 1498.

278. Quinte Curse. Vie d'Alexandre. [1490?] fol.

Collation : Printed in double columns.

Description : [] Quinte Curse de la vie et/gestes dalexandre le Grant. [] Cy fine le liure de Quinte Curse des faitz et gestes du grant Alexandre imprime a Paris par Anthoine verard.

Copy known : None.

Note : Mentioned by Brunet and by Hain (5887).

279. Signes precedens le grant jugement.

Collation : 34 unnumbered leaves, sig. a₈, b-d₆, e₈. 29 lines to a full page.

Description : [a₁ a.] Les signes / precedens le / grant iugē/ment general de nostre redempteur iesuchrist.// [e₈ b.] Device, of angels upholding a shield bearing the signs of the Passion (see Appendix of reproductions).

Illustrations : On title-page, L No. 4: the Signes are illustrated by a set from the Art de bien Mourir. Small 'black' initials.

Copy known : Bib. Nat.* (D. 4722).

280. Vergier d'honneur. [By Oëtavien de Saint-Gelais.] 4°.

Type : No. 1.

Copy known : *Bib. Nat. (Lb. 2815).

Note : This book has no direct indication of Vêrard, but is illustrated with an astonishingly miscellaneous set of cuts nearly all used in his books, whole pages being sometimes covered with them. His L No. 1 is on the title-page, and the book appears to be printed in his type No. 1.

Illustrations comprise re-used cuts of Antoine Vérard's of every description, with many new ones, of which some appear to be further work of the same artists. The folio cuts illustrating each "Triumphe" appear to be entirely new. The borders of the title-page are impressions from metal, and the lower one has a blank shield after the Italian manner. 'Floral' and 'grotesque' initials, and others.

Type: No. 12.

Copy known: Brit. Mus. (83. l. 1).

CHART OF VÉRARD'S SIXTEENTH CENTURY HORÆ IN THE BRITISH MUSEUM.¹

Set a is copied from Pigouchet's set b.

Set a* is copied from Pigouchet's set b*, except No. 1, which differs from Pigouchet's Grail (as found at a later date). No. 2 is a copy of Pigouchet's b* 1, not his b* 2.

Set b is copied from Pigouchet's set c, but Nos. 3, 20, 24 are not found in Pigouchet's set, though the style is similar.

Set c is copied from Pigouchet's set d.

d 1-5, odd cuts; d 3 is found on the title of the Utrecht Missal of 1497 by Higman and Hopyl.

Order of Nos. 248-251 fixed by cracks in 8, 11, 20, 21, but most of all in 13. Nos. 243 and 244 are partly identical: closely connected in date.

The Sarum edition, No. 232, has a large number of additional cuts (a set of 22 cuts of Saints); 6 cuts of the Passion form a second set; also a Pentecost and Image of Pity in the criblée style. Date fixed by cut No. 3, which is more broken than in 1503, and by No. 8, which belongs to set a, and was therefore disused by 1506.

Prologue

Prologue capital au mistere de la passion iesu crist.

Verbum caro factum est

Jeū tout puissant filz eternal.

Regnant en regne supernel

Hōme fait par amour feruēt.

A prins corps passible et mortel.

De dens le ventre maternel

De la vierge trespeccēte.

Et par voye clere et patente.

A monstre la voye et la sente

De paruenir la hault en gloire

Par quoy present est nostre entente

Faire demonstrance euidente

De ses fais dignes de memoire

Mais pource que ne pouons faire.

Ne dire chose salutaire

Sans grace du ciel descendue.

Il nous est a tous necessaire.

Demander de cueur voluntaire.

Que grace nous soit estandue

Car nostre entente resoluē.

Est de traictier chose ardue

capital

Car quant adam voulut mesprendre

Et nostre ame engager ou vendre

Au dyable par coulpe vilaine

Damez fusmes sans grace attendre

Se dieu neust voulu sa main tendre

Et pour nous prendre chair humaine.

Le tiers mot notant le tiers fait

Cest factum le fait tresparfait

Qui les fals de iesus denote.

Car depuis quil fut homme fait.

De grace et de merite affect

En son fait ny eut quelque note;

Chascun diay catholique note

Ses fais et ny mette ne oste

Mais les ensuiue dignement.

Et en haulte pencee deuote

Chascun de nous sa vie sote.

Corrige vertueusement

Après quau monde transitoire

Fut fait mainte oeuvre meritoire

Iesus filz en eternite.

Il voulut monter en sa gloire

Seant en euerse memoire

No. 10.

Seneque en son temps le tresnoble des orateurs latins composa & fist ce liure et leuoya a gation son amy pour et en lieu de remedes contre toutes les soubdainetes de fortunes & garropemens. Et fist seneca ce liure en maniere de dialogue Cest a dire de deux personnages. Cest assauoir que premierement la sensualite se cōplaint. Et secondement apres daine raison la cōforte sur les durs fais & cas aduenus p fortune. Et certainement ce liure est tresresplēdissant & noble p la grādeur de ses entebemēs/ & p la clartē de son beau lāgage/ & p la briefuete de ses sentēces.

¶ La translation de lespecial prologue sur ledit liure enuoye & escript a gation amy de seneca.

Ambien gation mon amy que les Dictiezs & les liures de tous les poetes latins cōtinuellement anoblissent ton giron/cest a dire combien que continuellement tu lises & entendes et aymes les liures de tous poetes escriuans en latin. Toutes
